

2016 JUNE NEWS & EVENTS

In 2015 the numbers of young people on our events were small but the quality of the mountain days and beach kite flying were second to none. We had several Scout Explorers join us in Snowdonia and they pushed their skills on rock and at the end of the flying lines in some perfect weather conditions. Leaders also took time out to brush up on rock and rope skills in Derbyshire and we hope to use those techniques in Devon and Pembrokeshire in 2016.

For 2016 we have a reservation at the Snowdonia Centre and we already have interest from some Hertfordshire groups.

July 16-17	Weekend	Devon Rock climbing camping trip	£TBD
Sept 16-18	Weekend	North Wales Multi-Activity	£80

Other events such as rock climbing, backpacking, orienteering, upon request.

A trip to Snowdon summit in August had pretty dismal weather but by September the blue skies had welcomed these Explorers on the Miners path. An unusual route for us, but one that led to a double summit day and cooling off in the waterfall pools.

Getting the wrist movement are the key to control of our power kites. Here some quick tuition is given before the wind starts to take control and raise the heart-beats in the group. High kicks and elevated jumps across the Blackrock sands in Wales gave us all a fun time on the beach.

It's been a while since we ascended the gritstone edges of Derbyshire, but here you see us doing some of the classic routes at Froggatt and being able to practice the finer points of ropework.
